Our friend and colleague Sarah Pannacciulli needs our help.

As a result of a brain injury at birth, her daughter, Ella, has several very serious developmental and medical disabilities, one of them being Cerebral Palsy. She was recently accepted to participate in a very special clinical study for children with the disorder at Duke University Hospital. Ella will undergo a procedure where doctors will "re-infuse" her cord blood stem cells in the hopes to re-generate brain cells. However, since the procedure is experimental, it is not covered by insurance and is very costly.

Angel Kisses for Donna is donating all proceeds from the candle sales to the Dallas Hextell Foundation in Ella's name. You can also make a contribution to the foundation by visiting their website below. Click the link below to the Dallas Hextell Foundation, a non-profit organization founded by the parents of a child that underwent the cord blood stem cell transplant in 2008. The Foundation is helping families make the dream of participating in this study a reality. Please search for Ella Pannacciulli on the Our Kids page and make a donation on her behalf.

Thank you for support and generosity and hopefully one day Ella will be able to thank you too!
